To the PUBLIC.

THE Proprietors of the ARGUS, ever deſirous to teſtify their gratitude for the encouragement their literary labours have experienced from a generous and diſcerning Public, have, for their accommodation, taken an Office in the moſt centrical ſituation of London,

No. 5, Catharine-ſtreet, Strand.

The ARGUS, therefore, will hereafter be wholly conducted at the above Office.

If Authentic Intelligence, Faſhionable Anecdotes, and a ſpeedy Communication of every important Occurrence, foreign and domeſtic, together with an early Publication, will enſure a ſuperiority over the numerous productions of the day, every exertion will be extended on the part of the Proprietors to obtain that end.

Further profeſſions are unneceſſary. The ARGUS has been already ſubmitted to the public judgment; its ſucceſs hitherto is at once the beſt teſtimonial of its character and preſage of its future fame.
